The following is one of a series of articles describing the services of the American Red Cross in connection with the 1948 nation-wide fund campaign now in progress. A goal of $75,000,000 has been set for the nation and Marion county's quota is $25,985. Of the quota to be raised in Marion city and county $14,105, or 54 per cent, will remain here and $11,880 will be forwarded to national headquarters.

3. Temporary financial assistance from chapter funds on the basis of need for basic maintenance while claims for government benefits are pending or delayed, or in certain other definite instances.

4. Counseling in personal and family problems.

5. Referral services through which applicants to the Red Cross are informed and assisted in the utilization of other available community resources.

6. General information concerning government regulations and legislation and community resources.

During the past year the home service department of the Marion County Red Cross chapter rendered one or more of the above types of services to 518 families in Marion City and county. During the same period financial assistance amounting to $2,054.64 was extended in the form of loans and grants to persons eligible for such assistance under the financial assistance policy of Home Service.

STEEL PRICE HIKES TERMED UNIMPORTANT

U. S. Steel President Testifies Boost "Too Small To Be Inflationary."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—The head of the nation's largest steel firm told congress today a recent boost in steel prices is too "small and unimportant" to be inflationary.

"I believe that much of the criticism (of the increase) has been emotional or political in character," said Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel Corp.

Fairless testified before the senate-house economic committee investigating the $4.85-a-ton hike in semi-finished steel announced Feb. 20.

The committee, headed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), wants to know whether the increase, passed on to fabricating companies, will raise prices for consumers.

Some Products Lost Money

Fairless said while his company made a 1947 profit by $127,000,000 on all kinds of steel, it dropped about $1,000,000 on its January, 1948, sales of the semi-finished product.

"I do not think it is sound business or good economics to conduct one segment of our business at a loss of around $1,000,000 a month," he said. The loss did not result from lack of demand, he added, but from "an unsound and improper relationship between costs and selling prices."

"Even after this price adjustment," Fairless told the committee in his prepared statement, "one of our semi-finished products is still selling at a loss."

Contending the inflationary influence of the price increase has been "grossly exaggerated," the industrialist commented:

"United States Steel is a victim of inflation and not the cause of it. Steel prices as a whole have lagged far behind the prices of other commodities. United States Steel cannot fairly be made the scapegoat for the nation's ills."

Plans No General Increase

He said U.S. Steel has made no general increase in prices and "does not now contemplate making any such increase." Moreover, he said the firm has made "no agreement or understanding, private or otherwise to grant further wage increases."

Also due to testify before the joint committee today were A. B. Homer, president of Bethlehem Steel, and Hiland G. Batcheller, president of Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp.

The congressional study is part of a broad scale investigation. At the urgent request of President Truman, the justice department announced last week it is looking into the raise to determine whether violations of the anti-trust laws were involved.

The commerce department and the president's council of economic advisers also are studying its possible inflationary impact.

Details of Plans for Plant Outlined at Meeting Today

Marion was given its first introduction to a close association with atomic energy at 10 a. m. today in a conference at Hotel Harding.

Attending were representatives of the atomic energy commission, the Monsanto Chemical Company and a group of 30 Marion business and civic leaders and representatives of ministerial, medical and other groups.

The meeting was arranged by H. E. Webster, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who has cooperated in negotiations for establishing the plant here.

Official announcement that the plant would be established was made to the group by Dr. Carroll A. Hochwalt, vice president and director of research for Monsanto.

In his opening statement he explained the reason for selecting Marion for the plant. He said it was the policy of the atomic energy commission to select land already owned by the government whenever possible. This plan, he said, not only keeps down the cost but also eliminates the necessity of acquiring land through condemnation with the resulting removal of people from their established homes.

Provide for Possible Expansion

In a later discussion of this point Kenneth A. Dunbar, Dayton area manager for the atomic energy commission, declared more land was acquired than actually needed at this time. He said this was due to allowances made for possible future expansion and to permit the AEC to acquire some needed facilities such as the fire station and water system.

Location of the 1,200 acre tract was roughly described as lying east of the railroad spur extending from the Pennsylvania lines and north of the Likens road.

It lies to the north and east of the 1,280-acre tract recently acquired by the state welfare department for an adjunct to the boys' industrial commission at Lancaster.

The AEC tract extends eastward to take in the water reservoir, pumping station, part of the Scioto Plant magazine area. Mr. Dunbar said it is possible the AEC may close a portion of the Likens road which traverses the area at one point.

In Nationwide Program

In opening his remarks at this morning's conference Dr. Hochwalt said he "was glad to announce the establishment of an atomic energy commission installation in Marion." He added that when in full operation it would become part of the nation's entire atomic energy program.

He explained the connection of Monsanto with the AEC. The company, he said, is one of many private industries and universities now doing work for the commission. It is the policy of the AEC, he said, to let out its work under prime contracts and agreements to industry and universities, rather than give its own supervision to the program.

All work on atomic energy, however, is under the direct control of the AEC, he said.

The Third in Ohio

Monsanto now is operating atomic energy installations for the AEC at Dayton and at a new plant now under construction at Miamisburg, 10 miles from Dayton. The Marion plant will give the company three operations in Ohio.

Until March 1 the company also operated the AEC Clinton laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Dr. Hochwalt said. Monsanto, he added, first engaged in atomic energy work at Dayton in 1943 and has been active in this field since that date.

All atomic energy operations are carried out under provisions of the Atomic Energy Act passed by congress in 1946. The act established the commission and also set up rules for operations of such as safety, security and other factors.

These will be followed here, and as a result Mr. Dunbar said, the area will be fenced and entrance will be restricted to those involved in its operation.

Says Safety Assured

So far as safety to workers and the community is concerned there is no danger, Dr. Hochwalt emphasized. He added that AEC installations had a better safety record than many private industrial plants, a fact attested by numerous safety awards received by the AEC from the National Safety Council. There is no danger of explosion or to the community, he declared.

Quantities of chemicals stored at the plant will be limited to amounts needed for laboratory research.

Restrictions in admission to the area result from the need for secrecy as to the type of work carried on in the plant, the Marion audience was told.

"The basic responsibility of the AEC is protection of the country," Dr. Hochwalt said. "Unfortunately there is no known de-

$5,000,000 PLANT TO BE OPERATED BY MONSANTO CO.

Monsanto Chemical Co. announced here today selection of a site northeast of Marion for establishment of a new atomic energy installation as part of the Atomic Energy Commission's nationwide construction and research program. The announcement was made by Dr. Carroll A. Hochwalt, vice president of Monsanto and director of the company's Central Research Department at Dayton, and Kenneth A. Dunbar, Dayton area manager for the AEC.

The installation will be used for the investigation of basic chemical problems in the field of atomic energy, and will be located five miles northeast of Marion at the site of the Scioto Ordnance Plant. The AEC is acquiring approximately 1,200 acres of the 12,000 -acre tract from the War Assets Administration.

To Start Work Soon

Existing facilities will be utilized as much as practicable, including warehouses, a garage, shops, power plant and a sewage and water system. A study is currently being made to determine what additional buildings will be needed. Construction work will get under way probably within 30 days, and will be handled by Maxon Construction Co. of Dayton, O. Giffels & Vallet, Inc., of Detroit, will serve as architects and engineers. It is expected that the project will employ up to 1,000 construction workers and that construction will take about one year. Construction cost is estimated at $5,000,000.

In general, new construction will be laboratory buildings for technical operations. The laboratory structures will be of a fireproof type and will include the latest developments in safety devices for protection of personnel.

Part of Enlarged Program

The unit will aid in the AEC's enlarged program of conducting chemical studies and developing and testing processes, procedures and techniques which will be applied to the operation of the United States Atomic Energy Program.

Operations will be administered by Dr. Hochwalt, who is also in charge of Monsanto's AEC facility at Miamisburg, O., 10 miles south of Dayton, which is nearing completion.

Original operations upon completion of construction will involve employment in excess of 100 persons, with a possibility that additional personnel may be acquired later. Most of the first employes will be recruited locally.

The location was determined after an extensive search and in line with the AEC's policy of utilizing government-owned land and structures wherever possible, thus reducing materially over-all costs and thus eliminating the inconvenience and hardship which would otherwise be necessitated if private property were to be acquired.

"The importance of this facility to the over-all atomic energy program, and therefore its importance to the national security and common defense of the United States, makes it imperative that design and operation be maintained secure," Dr. Hochwalt pointed out. "The area will not be subject, however, to any unnecessary security measures. The facility will operate under security provisions of the Atomic Energy Act of 1946."

Dr. Hochwalt further stated: "There will be no dangers from explosion attendant to this operation. Any normal industrial hazards will be minimized by advanced design and construction features. The safety record of the Atomic Energy Program, as attested by the examinations and awards by the National Safety Council, indicates that the industrial and research activities of the AEC are safer by a wide margin than other general industrial activities in the United States.

"The radioactive materials to be used at the new site are not explosive. They are, in fact, similar to the radioisotopes being used for medical and other purposes in hundreds of hospitals and research institutions throughout the nation."

Monsanto Chemical Co. has, since July, 1945, operated the government's first nuclear research center at Clinton Laboratories, Oak Ridge, Tenn., and has received national recognition for its safety program. The company's Central Research Department in Dayton has held for two consecutive years the President's Award for a perfect safety record, signifying no lost-time accidents during this period.

Sales Institute Hears Editor Define Fashion, Style and Fad

"A man has no trouble acquiring the 'new look' for men—it comes naturally when he receives the bill for his wife's 'new look'," Anne Bartram Craig, Columbus fashion editor, told her audience of 305 Marion merchandisers at the fifth session of the Institute of Retail Training last night in the Central Junior High school auditorium.

Her timely address on fashions began with a definition of fashion, style, and fad.

"Fashion comprises the prevailing type of clothes worn. If this type continues to please the public it becomes a style. A particular eccentricity of dress which becomes popular in a given locality is a fad," she said.

"The controversial 'new look' is a combination of sloping shoulders, a narrow waistline, a curved hipline, and full and long skirt," she added.

"Fashion coordination amounts to being able to show the customer the type of wearing apparel that should be worn with the fashion she has chosen. A good fashion sales clerk should be alert and up to the minute on the current fashion vocabulary and in selling fashions the clerk should practice what she preaches. If she is selling long skirts, she should not be wearing a short one.

"Win your customer's confidence by showing a true and sincere interest in her problem, and by knowing your stock, Mrs. Craig concluded.

She was then joined on the platform by her husband, Maynard Craig, a Washington C. H. merchandiser, who assisted her in presenting a fashion show for sales clerks, showing the proper and improper dress of a salesman or saleswoman on the job.

Models in Fashion Show

Eighteen Marion girls and four local men were models for the fashion show. The girls were Pat Tonguette, Sue Sparks, Muriel Nichol, Helen Bailey, Connie Jerew, Mary Lusk, Nancy Nussbaum, Dorothy Veness, Frances Burdell, Melba Craven, Rose Reidy, Eleanor Faulkner, Jo Anne Saull, Jani Wintringham, Hazel Bair, Gloria Conner, Norma Hummer and Helen Moore. Male models were Paul Myers, Don Showwalter, Jack Leffler and Frank Hall.

Prior to Mrs. Craig's talk, the motion picture, "Face in the Mirror," a production of Stillitos of Cincinnati, was screened by T. D.

BENES' RESIGNATION REPORTED, DENIED

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 2—The London Evening News said today Eduard Benes had resigned as president of Czechoslovakia, but a Czechoslovak embassy official speedily denied it.

The newspaper's story was telephone from Prague.

Benes, at 64 is in frail health. He agreed last week to Communist demands giving Communists control of the government under Premier Klement Gottwald.

"Last week he put his signature to a formal declaration delinquishing his title as president of the Czechoslovak republic," the Evening News said.

"Communists have not yet allowed the resignation to be made public for fear of a violent reaction among the people."

The British press association reported that an official at the Czechoslovak embassy denied the resignation report, saying:

"We are authorized to say that it is not true. President Benes has not resigned."

DRIVER IN 4-DEATH CRASH ARRAIGNED

George H. McCloskey Pleads Not Guilty to Manslaughter.

George Henry McCloskey, recently discharged from City hospital, was arraigned in municipal court at 10:45 a. m. today charged with manslaughter in the death of four Marion youths in an automobile accident on route 95 near Claridon last fall. Thomas Fetter, attorney for McCloskey, entered a plea of not guilty for his client and McCloskey was released under $1,000 bond, pending preliminary hearing set for 9 a. m. March 9.

The accident in which the four youths lost their lives occurred Sept. 20, 1947, when the car in which they were riding, driven by McCloskey failed to make the sharp curve near the Claridon cemetery. Leaving the highway the automobile raked the iron fence bordering the cemetery and smashed into a large maple tree. Skid marks on the edge of the road and in the ditch by the cemetery extended over 150 feet, accoruing to reports of authorities.

Mr. McCloskey was released from the hospital Jan. 6 after undergoing treatment for a fractured leg, a crushed foot and a broken arm. He entered the courtroom today on crutches.

Instantly killed in the accident were two brothers, Dorman Delane Knapp, 18, and Harrold Ray Knapp, 15, of 380 Leader street, and Donald L. Temple, 17, of 488½ West Center street. Duane Herron, 15, of 686½ Wood street died Sept. 25, five days after the crash, without regaining consciousness. Charles Rentschler, 14, of 561 Wood street and Earl Foster, 15, of 555 Bartram avenue, also passengers in the car, were both released from the hospital several months ago.

VANDENBERG DODGES NOMINATION QUERY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2 — Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) declined today to "speculate" whether he would accept the Republican nomination for president.

Vandenberg wired Raymond A. McConnell Jr., Lincoln, Neb., newspaper editor again, asking his name be withheld from the April 13 Nebraska primary.

McConnell had held up filing of a petition to place Vandenberg's name on the Nebraska ballot until the Michigan senator had opportunity to answer this question:

"If you were nominated by the Republican convention would you accept the nomination?"

Vandenberg wired McConnell:

"Responding to your message, I decline to speculate with utterly improbable contingencies. Your question defies intelligent answer without full knowledge of unknown ultimate events.

"I have heretofore made my position clear. I shall not discuss it further.

"I again request that my name be not filed for a position for which I am not a candidate. If it is filed despite this urgent and earnest request, I ask my Nebras-

Monsanto Chemical Co. Started In Small Building in St. Louis

The Monsanto Chemical Co. was founded in St. Louis in 1901 by John Francis Queeny.

The company started out in a nondescript little wooden building near the St. Louis waterfront.

The year 1914, regarded as the date of the "creation" of the American synthetic organic chemical industry, found Monsanto a going concern.

In 1917 it made its first move in lateral growth by acquiring the Commercial Acid Co., near East St. Louis. Since purchase, the plant has developed into one of Monsanto's largest. It is now located in the incorporated village of Monsanto, Ill.

In 1920, an entry into European markets was deemed advisable. A half interest was obtained in the Graesser Chemical Co. of Ruabon, North Wales. This company, established in 1867, was the world's largest distiller of natural phenol. Now wholly owned by Monsanto, it operates under the name of Monsanto Chemicals, Ltd., with plants at Ruabon and Sunderland, England. The Sunderland plant was purchased in 1929.

Huge Expansion

Monsanto's part in the development of the chemical industry in the 1930's was prefaced by a change in the highest office of the organization. Edgar Monsanto Queeny, 31, succeeded his father as president of the company. The elder Queeny retained chairmanship of the board of directors until his death in 1933. Under Edgar Queeny's direction, Monsanto Chemical Co. grew from a $12,000,000 organization in 1928 to one with assets of more than $198,770,548 at the end of 1947.

A further indication of the expansion that has taken place is in the company personnel roster. In 1930 2,130 names appeared. In 1947 it was nearly seven and a half times that figure, a total of approximately 16,000 employes.

The expansion program instituted by Edgar Queeny began vigorously when three well established concerns were acquired: the Rubber Service Laboratories of Akron, O., and Nitro, W. Va.; the Commonwealth Division of Mathieson Alkali Works, Newark, N. Y.; and the Merrimac Chemical Co. of Boston, one of the oldest and largest chemical manufacturers in New England.

Enters Canada

In 1932, Monsanto Ltd. of Canada was formed to effectively handle sales problems in Canada.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, ✝ THE HOPE of Glory

THE TEST OF PRAYER

Luke 11:9. "And I tell you: ask, and it will be given you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you"

LENT is a season when Christian men are called to prayer. We know that His grace can find the channels for His power to come to men.

The prophet of old promised the people that in the dark valley God would open to them a way of hope That is also the promise that Jesus made. He urged His disciples to remain calm and hopeful, and to believe in God even when there is distress among the nations, and men's hearts failing them for fear of looking at the things which are to come on the earth. We ask, what are we to do in this age of transition, disintegration and confusion" Wring our hands in despair" NO! We must look up, and lift up our heads, "for your redemption draweth nigh" He is able to lead us out of the dark, desolate valley to a brighter and better day.

Let us give ourselves to prayer that God in these days may reveal His will to the nations, that He may make "the wrath of men to praise Him," and bring humanity forward to a better brighter day.

Prospect Street Methodist Church.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Symptoms of Sleeping Sickness

From time to time, public imagination is caught and held by newspaper stories of children or adults who "sleep" for months or even years, like the princess in the fairy tale. Unlike the princess, however, there is for many such people no joyful awakening, for they are victims of encephalitis or inflammation of the brain, a malady against which medical science has as yet no magic

There are many forms of this disease, which is now known to be caused by several different viruses It may also develop following other more common infections, such as measles or mumps.

The most important and best-known type of encephalitis is the one described by Dr. von Economo in 1916 It is known as lethargic encephalitis or sleepin sickness At the present time, it seems to occur rarely, but widespread epidemics of it have broken out not only in the United States but elsewhere

This malady usually occurs during the winter season, and it is thought that it develops about ten days after the person has been exposed to it. It may attack persons of any age, but is most common between the ages of ten and thirty years Unfortunately, the exact manner in which this sickness is spread has not been determined, but it does not seem to spread directly from one person to another.

There are three stages of the disease an acute period which lasts from a few days to several months, then a period during which there are few, if any, symptoms this period lasting for several years, then there follows a chronic stage, which may last for the rest of the patient's life

During the first stages of the disease, there may be sleepiness with little fever. On the other hand, in some cases, the patient is excited and overactive, with high fever Sometimes the disease runs a very rapid course with extremely high fever, convulsions, and similar symptoms In some instances there are mild pains, double vision, headache, and sleeplessness

In the chronic stage, there are twitchings and trembling There may be some paralysis, convulsions, and changes in the personality, together with disturbances of sleep.

Sleepiness is simply just one symptom—not the most common It may start at the beginning of the illness and last for the rest of the patient's life. Usually it lasts for a few days occasionally a few months, and then recovery follows. The thing to remember, however, is that sleepiness is a very rare symptom and, while dramatic and even accepted as an aid in naming the illness, it is still not too important.

This condition has been made the object of much study, but more information is needed concerning the method of spread, as well as ways of preventing and treating this disorder The outlook for complete and permanent recovery is not always good in this disease; hence, it is important to search for measures to prevent this disorder

Questions and Answers

M. E. Will you please tell me what causes dropsy?

Answer: Dropsy means swelling of all the tissues of the body, due to the presence of excessive amounts of fluid in them In practically all cases, this condition is due either to heart or kidney disease or jointly with her husband, if she had $500 or more income.

If she files separately, she claims her own $500 exemption and the husband claims his own on his return, $500.

If they file a joint return, they claim a total exemption of $1,000.

Suppose she had less than $500 income. She doesn't have to file a return. But, no matter how small that income was—so long as she had some—if she doesn't file—

Then her husband can't claim any exemption for her and, since she isn't filing, she can't claim her own $500 exemption.

THEREFORE, she should file a joint return with her husband, listing both her exemption and her income. This will reduce the husband's tax without costing her anything.

When a couple's combined income was under $5,000, they can file jointly on Form W-2, the withholding statement, or on the 1040 short-form, or on the 1040 long-form, depending on their reason for making the choice.

When they file separately on Form W-2 or the 1040 short-form, each is allowed a deduction of about 10 per cent for personal expenses. It's already allowed for in the tax table used with both those forms.

Remember this: When they file jointly on Form W-2 or the 1040 short-form, they are allowed only one deduction of about 10 per cent but it is 10 per cent of their combined income.

When they file separately on the 1040 long-form, because the income of each is $5,000 or more, each is allowed a standard deduction of $500 for personal expenses.

BUT REMEMBER, If they file jointly on the long-form, they are allowed only one standard deduction of $500 from their combined income, not a $500 deduction for each of them.

But—if one uses the long-form and itemizes deductions, the other must use it and itemize, too.

Remember these things:

▶Treasury experts say that when a wife has less than $500 income, and she and her husband are filing a return, they'll save money by filing jointly.

▶—If husband and wife can file jointly on Form W-2, they ought to. It will save time and trouble because—

By law the collector goes over their return and must figure out which is cheaper for them, a single or joint return. He gives them the benefit of the cheaper way.

Suppose you're not in those two groups above. Then try both ways—single and joint returns—before deciding which you'll turn into the collector as your 1947 income tax return.

Why try both ways? Because there's no simple answer to the question: "Do husbands and wives save money by filing single or joint returns?"

IN ONE CASE a joint return may save one couple money by giving them full benefit of exemptions. It may cost another couple money by boosting them into a higher surtax bracket.

Here's one point to be kept in mind by the wives of men now in the armed services:

The pay of enlisted men and non-commissioned officers is tax-free. So those who had no other income don't file a return.

If you're married to a serviceman who had no income but service pay, you can claim a $500 exemption for him, if you're filing a return because you had income of $500 or more of your own.

Next: Who must file a 1948 tax estimate.

don't DO that!

SIT GRACEFULLY . . . The girl who sits with knees wide apart or slumps on her spine looks unattractive, ill-bred.

SCHOOL PLANT AUTHORIZED

Board Approves Installation of Mark St. Heating System.

In keeping with recommendations made by the executive board of the Marion Civic Planning association of proceeding with such improvements as would seem practical at this time, members of the board of education approved installation of a heating system at the Mark Street school building, at their monthly meeting last night at the school administration building.

Previously approved was installation of heating systems at the Silver Street and Oakland buildings during the summer vacation Following last night's action of the board, the greatly needed improvement at Mark Street will be made this summer instead of a year later as was originally scheduled.

Approved also was the attendance of A. C May, principal at Harding High school, at a meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Chicago March 8 to 12. Mr May is a member of one of the reviewing committees. It also was voted to assist in the purchase of a cyclorama and curtain for the West hall at Harding High school. The major portion of the cost has been raised by the school it was reported. In keeping with plans authorized last year the purchase of 200 lockers for Harding High school was placed on order for future delivery.

Upon the recommendation of Supt. L. L. Dickey, the board approved the appointment of Mrs. Edith Hendel to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Evelyn Bastian as art teacher in junior high schools, and Mrs Katherine Rinesmith to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Floy Wideman, who was granted leave because of illness.

Other business included appointment of Supt. Dickey as a member of the board of trustees of the City library, succeeding Supt. E. E. Holt.

A letter was received from the Silver Street P.-T.A. expressing the members' appreciation of the new lighting system recently placed in the school building.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on 888 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. 888 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

INSTALLMENT XXXII

...President decided to meet Prime Minister Churchill for ...Quebec conference, in September, 1944, he asked me ...shed to accompany him. The conference, however, ...to be largely military. I was not well, the Dumbarton ...ence was in progress, and I told him I preferred to re...shington but would be available if he needed me.

...before the conference was due to assemble, the Presi... availed upon to per... ...y of the Treasury ...to attend the meet...thau and his friends ...rking for some time ...plan for the postwar ... Germany, and the ...oups who has been ...ght up by German ...ested the President ...orgenthau to go to ...arily to present his ...many.

...mself leaned to the idea that the German people as a whole should be given a lesson they would remember. On Aug. 26, 1944, he had sent a long memorandum to Secretary of War Stimson, a copy of which was sent to me, protesting against the handbook drawn up for the guidance of military government officials in Germany.

"It gives the impression," he said, "that Germany is to be restored just as much as the Netherlands or Belgium, and the people of Germany brought back as quickly as possible to their prewar estate.

"It is of the utmost importance that every person in Germany should realize that this time Germany is a defeated nation. I do not want them to starve to death, but, as an example, if they need food to keep body and soul together beyond what they have, they should be fed three time a day with soup from Army soup kitchens. That will keep them perfectly healthy, and they will remember that experience all their lives. The fact that they are a defeated nation, collectively and individually, must be so impressed upon them that they will hesitate to start any new war."

With regard to the disposition of the German navy, the President advanced a new idea.

HE WROTE ME a memorandum on Oct. 13 in which he said he agreed with the views of the joint chiefs of staff with regard to the complete destruction of the German fleet, but he had one amendment to make.

"Destruction in the past," he said, "has meant taking the ships to sea and sinking them. I think that in some cases surrendered ships have been destroyed by converting them into scrap metal. I do not like the idea of complete destruction by the sinking of thousands of tons of steel.

"Recently a new use for such ships has been discovered. We have used sunken ships as breakwaters for the formation of new harbors. This has been done in Italy and it has been done on the coast of Normandy. It is relatively cheap way to build a breakwater. I think that the United Nations should be in position to pass on application by Allied nations for these ships for the definite and specific purpose of sinking them as breakwaters to improve or create safe anchorages. It is rather a nice thought to use them for such peaceful purposes.

"In any such cases, the ships should be sunk at a designated place as quickly as possible and under the eyes of a United Nations committee. Once sunk it would be practically impossible to raise them and restore them to war purposes."

HENRY MORGENTHAU

He had a drastic program for Postwar Germany.

Harry Hopkins came to me on Sept. 1, 1944, and informed me of the President's desire to establish a "cabinet committee on Germany."

I held the first meeting of the "cabinet committee" in my office on Sept. 5, with Hopkins, Morgenthau, and Stimson attending. I laid before them a memorandum my associates and I had prepared, dated Sept. 4, containing suggested recommendations the cabinet committee might present to the President.

Secretary Stimson agreed with virtually all this memorandum, with the exception of the point that the standard of living of the German population should be held down to subsistence levels. Secretary Morgenthau also seemed to agree with large sections of the memorandum, but he would not commit himself to it. Harry Hopkins sent me a note on Sept. 5 in which he said that, with minor reservations about language which did not affect the content of the document, he approved it.

On the following day our little group met with the President at the White House. I presented to the President our memorandum of Sept. 4, with the statement that it had not been agreed to by the other members of the committee, but might serve as a basis for discussion. Stimson presented a war department memorandum that was very largely in line with our memorandum. Morgenthau, however, presented the original drastic treasury memorandum.

The discussion that followed was inconclusive. The distance between the views of the state and war departments on the one hand and of the treasury on the other was so great that no meeting of minds ensued.

Thus the matter stood when the Quebec conference met on Sept. 11. We had been able to achieve no further reconciliation of views. As I have already stated, the President was induced to permit Morgenthau to attend the conference, at which the latter intended to advocate his extreme plan before the President and the prime minister. I requested Ray Atherton, our ambassador to Canada, to represent us at the meetings.

FOUR DAYS AFTER the conference began, I was astonished to receive from the President a memorandum addressed to me, dated Sept. 15, which indicated that he and Churchill had largely embraced Morgenthau's idea. The memorandum set forth that the President and the prime minister felt that an essential feature of the best measures to prevent renewed rearmament by Germany was the future disposition of the Ruhr and the Saar. The ease with which the metallurgical, chemical and electric industries in Germany could be converted from peace to war had already been impressed upon us by bitter experience. It had also to be remembered that the Germans had devastated a large portion of the industries of Russia and of other neighboring Allies, and it was only just that these injured countries should be entitled to remove the machinery they required in order to repair the losses they had suffered.

The memorandum then stated:

"The industries referred to in the Ruhr and in the Saar would therefore be necessarily put out of action and closed down. It was felt that the two districts should be put under somebody under the world organization which would supervise the dismantling of these industries and make sure that they were not started up again by some subterfuge.

"This program for eliminating the war-making industries in the Ruhr and in the Saar is looking forward to converting Germany into a country primarily agricultural and pastoral in its character.

"The prime minister and the President were in agreement upon this program."

In his note to me introducing this memorandum, the President said this seemed eminently satisfactory to him and he thought I would aprove the general idea of not rehabilitating the Ruhr, Saar, etc.

I COULD NOT, however, approve any program "looking forward to converting Germany into a country primarily agricultural and pastoral in its character." Seventy million Germans could not live on the land within Germany. They would either starve or become a charge upon other nations. This was a scheme that would arouse the eternal resentment of the Germans. It would punish all of them and future generations too for the crimes of a portion of them. It would punish not only Germany but also most of Europe.

The President also said in his note to me that he thought he had worked out the locations of the occupying forces in Germany. He had been hoping to get the northwestern portion of Germany as the American zone of occupation, but finally agreed with Churchill that Britain should have it, while the United States would have most of southern Germany, including Bavaria.

On the same day, Sept. 15, that the President sent me the memorandum embracing the Morgenthau plan and the decision on the zones of occupation, he sent me another memorandum which informed me that Morgenthau had presented at Quebec, in conjunction with his plan for Germany, a proposal of credits to Britain totalling six and a half billion dollars. This might suggest to some the nature of a quid pro quo with which the secretary of the treasury was able to get Mr. Churchill's adherence to his cataclysmic plan for Germany.

THE PRESIDENT SAID in his memorandum that he had agreed that, after the defeat of Germany and while the war against Japan went on, Britain should continue to receive munitions assistance from us to the extent of $3,500,000,000 and non-munitions assistance of $3,000,000,000. He concurred in Churchill's statement that if the United Kingdom was once more to pay her way it was essential that her export trade, which had shrunk to a very small fraction, should be reestablished. Naturally no articles obtained on Lend-Lease or identical thereto would be exported or sold for profit, but it was essential that the United States should not attach any conditions to supplies delivered to Britain on lend-lease which would jeopardize the recovery of her export trade.

This struck me amidships. It tended to shatter negotiations we had been conducting with the British for three years. It derogated from Article VII of our basic lend-lease agreement with Britain, signed in 1942, which provided that Britain would adopt a non-discriminatory commercial policy after the war, meaning that she would give up imperial tariff preferences.

This whole development at Quebec, I believe, angered me as much as anything that had happened during my career as secretary of state. If the Morgenthau plan leaked out, as it inevitably would—and shortly did—it might well mean a bitter-end German resistance that could cause the loss of thousands of American lives.

Senator Taft Gives a Sample

SENATOR TAFT has found the Truman administration's most vulnerable spot—its phony liberalism.

In his speech to Cuyahoga County Republicans Saturday night, Ohio's favorite son said what has needed saying for a long time—that the Democratic party stands for "complete regimentation of the American people."

Then because the Democratic party has become a political whatizzit that must be defined, he defined it as a "donkey without a head or a tail" which Harry Truman is trying to ride to victory in the 1948 campaign.

Henry Wallace has run away with the party's left wing, and southern reactionaries are threatening to run away with the other, leaving Mr. Truman with a remnant that has nothing to offer but more and more regimentation of the people. "Every measure advocated in the Democratic program," Senator Taft charged, "is anti-liberal, will decrease the freedom of the people and will increase the arbitrary control of the government. President Truman wants complete power over prices, wages, rationing and allocations."

The inevitable result—and this is the key issue of the 1948 campaign—would be the continued increase of an already crushing tax burden.

Impoverishment of the citizenry to satisfy the power greed of a government that has stayed too long in office is not liberalism. That had begun to be evident even before the war and is more evident now, when the disintegration of the New Deal coalition, then only beginning is almost complete.

Senator Taft's role in politics is to say what men of less courage don't say and to do what they are afraid to do. That is how he won the confidence of millions of Americans who have learned to think of him as a symbol of political integrity. That is why he is Ohio's favorite son for the Republican presidential nomination.

His speech last Saturday night was a sample of the hard-hitting campaign he would wage as his party's banner bearer in the presidential race.

Recovery Program or Lend-Lease?

IT WOULD be shortsighted not to see that the European recovery program—the Marshall plan—could be converted into a land-lease program by a change in European circumstances.

The change is by no means impossible.

The stage has been set for the beginning of senate debate on the matter—but not according to the original plan. Senators, and representatives, when their turn comes, are going to feel crowded by the pressure if such unexpected events as Communist seizure of power in Czechoslovakia, Soviet pressure on Finland, and the prospect that Italy may be marched into the ranks of Russian puppet states.

Senator Vandenberg, leading off the debate, warns his colleagues that time now is just as important as money. He implies that if action is delayed much longer, money may become useless. European aid, he reminds the country, is a plan to stop World War III before it starts. Once it had started, the United States would have lost all power of decision. The billions it may decide to spend for a Marshall plan would be lost in the multi-billions it would have to spend under a plan for general mobilization if Russia succeeds in dominating Europe.

The Tidal Lands Dispute

THE senate judiciary committee is holding hearings on a bill by Senator Moore of Oklahoma which would supersede last year's supreme court decision on tidal land claims. This decision held that such lands are the federal government's and not the adjacent state's.

Such states as California, with valuable oil-bearing tidal lands, were leasing them to private citizens and deriving important royalties. The federal government says it doesn't wish to confiscate bona fide investments and deprive states of revenues from areas that have been developed. But it holds, as the court did, that tidal land resources are a national heritage and must be conserved as such.

A possible compromise might be worked out under a plan which has the approval of the justice and interior departments. This would provide for the federal government to take over all leases and an undisputed claim to all tidal lands. A state would receive 37½ per cent of royalties collected on tidal lands along its coast. Another 52½ per cent would be paid into the interior department's reclamation fund, of which the states are the beneficiaries.

The remaining 10 per cent would be for administrative expenses.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Moralizers Find Little Room in World Today.

THE other night I went to the theater to see Ibsen's "Ghosts" and I got "Hedda Gabler." That has cured me permanently of blind dates with the theater. I bought tickets by subscription for an Ibsen revival, only to discover that what I came to see had already died. Ibsen's "Ghosts" could not stand the strain of current actors, current reviewers and current audiences. In a word, it no longer fits the times.

On the the hand, Maurice Evans picks up such a dated piece as George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman" and fills the house. Also, Shakespeare is still a sell-out on Broadway year after year and Gilbert and Sullivan compete admirably with the moderns.

SOKOLSKY

Is Ibsen then so dated that we who moved whole generations has no message for this one? Perhaps it is so. For instance, in "Hedda Gabler," much is made of the triangle. If you will read those who devote themselves to illicit human relations, you will note how ordinary and usual triangles are. In fact, it seems to be a mark of respectability to be noticed as having an affair prior to a divorce, while divorce itself has become a propriety.

It is possible that many of this generation do not understand why Mrs. Elvsted, one of the characters in this play, is so emotional over having left her husband by walking out on him, without a word, while he was away from home. There is nothing extraordinary about that. You can read of it all the time—I think it is called something like Renovating. Maybe I have that wrong, not having familiarized myself with the slang of the saloons. But there is some phrase which characterizes what the lady thought was heroic and emancipatory, while actually it is something that makes one a celebrity these days.

No Message Anymore

So naturally, there was no message in that. Nor could I see much of a message in the restless Hedda who, as played by Eva Le Gallienne, seemed to be a middle-aged Park avenue wife of a business man who today would spend much of her husband's earnings feathering the nest of a psychoanalyst who would undoubtedly tell her to sin and forget about it. This poor Hedda actually shoots herself when her lawyer friend gets the goods on her and indicates that he could blackmail her unless she consented to deposit her freedom on his conscience.

In our generation, the gal might shoot the lawyer and land a night club job out of having become a celebrity. Or she might divorce her husband and marry the lawyer and thus have the goods on him. Certainly, she would not shoot herself because the lawyer knew that she had encouraged a poor simp of a romantic philosopher to use her pistol to die beautifully. She would probably get a movie contract if he really died for her.

His Generation Past

No, Ibsen is not for this generation. It is on to all that he has to say. Even had I seen "Ghosts," it would have been the same. The sulfa drugs, penicillin and heat treatments have destroyed the message of that play. In fact, there is nothing to anything any more, and that is the truth. All you have to do is to become a celebrity and you make the grade no matter what you do. So why spend a night listening to Ibsen sermonize on the blackness of the human soul? Ibsen's trouble was that he was a moralist. He wanted to cleanse the world of liars, cheats and hypocrites. But if you do that, how and where can you get politicians and other celebrities to run the world? That's why Ibsen is unnecessary in this age, just as all moralists are unnecessary.

All you need to do to live right is to get a couple of divorces with lots of bang in them, have a few romantic affairs in a couple of night clubs, steal your host's wife, and get mentioned often in the candid-camera columns. After that, life is just a bowl of cherries. Ibsen! Bah! He could not get by the gangsters who keep hoi polloi outside the red ropes of the sacred precincts of our modern saloons.

Who Has Jurisdiction The NLRB or The CAA?

In Miami, striking airline pilots have been picketing in planes.

That's keeping labor relations on a high level.

What do they do, hire skywriters to spell out their grievances?

Of course, their action precludes the use of the pilot union's natural battle-cry "We Won't Go Up Until Our Pay Does!"

Moreover, there is some basis for the company's complaint that its employes don't have the proper altitude.

So far as I can determine, this is the first time any one ever picketed above the clouds although, things being what they are below, a group of would-be angels may be marching up and down before the pearly gates, carrying placards: "Saint Peter Unfair To Us Sinners."

Incidentally, the pilots don't have to worry about any one crossing their picket-line....except perhaps an occasional seagull.

Will Italy Be the Next?

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

WHAT has just occurred in Czechoslovakia, and what is clearly in the process of occurring in Finland, may happen within the next few months in Italy. That is the stark fact of which the American policy-makers are fully, and agonizingly, aware. Serious as the Czech and Finnish events are, they do not greatly alter the balance of power between the Soviet sphere and the West. Yet if Italy enters the Soviet sphere, the United States and the whole western world will have suffered a disastrous defeat.

An Italian election is scheduled for April 19, Italian politics are volatile and unpredictable. Yet as of now, it appears probable that the Communist-run Italian people's bloc, which has been gaining rapidly in recent weeks, may poll well over 40 per cent of the total vote. If that happens, it will almost certainly be politically impossible for Premier Alcide de Gasperi or any other non-Communist leader to form a non-Communist government. That is why Italian Communist leader Palmire Togliatti is now reported to be exuding a supreme confidence.

Togliatti's leadership of the Italian Communists and their stooges has recently thoroughly justified his reputation as the shrewdest Communist outside Moscow. All observers agreed last autumn that the Moscow-ordered campaign of violence had frightened and alienated a large proportion of the Italian electorate. But since then the Communists have neatly reversed their field. They have assumed again the disguise of true democrats and patriots. Moreover, Togliatti has finally persuaded his old friends in the Kremlin to join him in wooing the Italian voters.

Plenty of "Cooperation"

Thus an Italian mission was sent of Albania shortly after the war, and was promptly jailed on orders from Moscow. Its members have now been released through the intervention of the Italian Communists, and relations with Albania resumed. Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito has been equally cooperative. Seventy-odd Italian fishing boats have been quite illegally seized in the Adriatic by the Yugoslavs (one Yugoslav gunboat even pursued an Italian fisherman, with machine-gun fire, right into an Italian port). Recently a direct appeal from the Communist trade union leader De Vittorio has elicited from the Yugoslav dictator the gracious promise that the Italian boats will be returned.

Such triumphs of Communist diplomacy have been widely advertised in the pro-Communist Italian press. There have been broad hints that they are no more than preliminary tidbits. If the Communists come to power, the grand prize, the return of the city of Trieste to Italy, will be forthcoming.

Moreover, the Soviets, after treating the Italians with open contempt since the end of the war, have suddenly begun to bid for Italian favor. Within the last few days they have announced that they are "still" in favor of Italian trusteeship for the former Italian colonies. And last Friday they stated that they were "very much" in favor of the return of Italy to the international Tangiers regime.

Such announcements have been published with much fanfare in the powerful pro-Communist Italian press (which is lavishly and somewhat mysteriously supplied with paper). The fact that all the other Tangiers signatories, including Britain and France, had three months before signified their willingness to invite Italy back to Tangiers, was studiously disregarded. So was the fact that the Soviets had previously tried to grab the Italian colonies for themselves. Instead, a riot in British-held Italian Somaliland, in which 52 Italians lost their lives, was held up as further proof of Western imperialism, duplicity and hatred of the Italian people.

Bids Up Their Sleeves

In this rather squalid game of bidding for the favor of Italian nationalists, the United States and the western nations have few cards to play. If the red tape in which the maritime commission is as usually firmly bound can be unraveled, some 15 Liberty ships will shortly be dispatched to Italy, as authorized by congress. But against such minor gestures, the Soviets can still play their ace. They can renounce a portion of their Italian reparations.

Meanwhile, Togliatti's grip on Pietro Nenni, Italian Socialist leader, is as tight as Gottwald's grip on the traitorous Fierlinger; indeed, the Italian Communist party is known to pay more than nine-tenths of the expenses of Nenni's Socialists. The other parties in the people's bloc, the Action party and the Republican alliance, are in like case. With such tight organization, with apparently unlimited funds and with the miseries of postwar Italy working in their favor, it is now believed seriously possible that the Communists and their stooges will poll a vote sufficiently large to prevent the formation of any non-Communist government. Then the venal Nenni will be propelled into the premiership, and the reins of power will stretch back through the hands of Togliatti into the Kremlin.

If that happens—and it must be emphasized that it is regarded by those who should know as a wholly serious possibility — the whole western position in the Near and Middle East will be outflanked, and the power balance in Europe itself will be disastrously altered. The world will then be close to war.

Roosevelt Victories Reviewed

By Walter Lippmann

THE election this year will determine whether the Democratic party can win five national elections in a row and so retain control of the executive branch of the government for a period of 20 years. This would be a remarkable feat.

Only twice before in American history has one party had so long a continuous term of power. The first was during and after the world war of Napoleon Bonaparte. The second was during and after our own Civil War. The old Democratic-Republican party under Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, won six elections in a row, and was in for a period of 24 years.

The Republican party also won six elections in a row (though one of them was the disputed election of Hayes over Tilden in 1867) and was in power from the inauguration of Lincoln in 1860 until 1884—a period of 24 years.

LIPPMANN

The four elections of the same president were, however, unique in American political history. President Truman's electoral campaign this year can best be understood by remembering that he is the successor of Roosevelt. He is now competing a term of office to which Roosevelt, the only president to be elected for more than two terms, was in fact elected. The character and the history of the Truman administration reflects this altogether abnormal situation.

Roosevelt's first two terms, won by defeating Hoover and Landon were normal American elections under the two-party system. Twelve years of Republican rule brought a reaction against the ins and in favor of the outs. Before that, in 1920, eight years of Democratic rule had brought a reaction to the Republicans.

Roosevelt won his first two elections by huge popular majorities: He had 59 per cent of the popular vote against Hoover and 62 per cent against Landon. But in 1940, the normal pattern was broken by the European war. Had it not been for the war, it is fair to say, I think, that Roosevelt would not have been, indeed could not have been, the first president to run for a third elected term. It is certain that he would not and could not have run for a fourth term.

It is the highest degree probable, moreover, that no other Democrat could have won the 1940 and 1944 elections. For what other Democrat could have united the components of the New Deal coalition with the Republicans and independents who put the issue of the war above all other issues?

Majorities Narrower

But even at that, Roosevelt's popular majority over Willkie (54 per cent) and Dewey (53.5 per cent) was much narrower than over Hoover and Landon. It was only in the electoral college; where the solid south gives the Democratic party a peculiar advantage, that his third and fourth victories were landslides.

In 1940, the original popular enthusiasm for Willkie was very great—quite comparable, it seems to me, with that for Eisenhower last autumn. The enthusiasm evaporated a month or so after Willkie's nomination when the independent Republicans and the uncommitted voters, who hold the balance of power, realized that he could not unite and lead the Republican party, and could not make it an effective instrument of government in the crisis of the world war.

In 1944, Roosevelt won again, though by a reduced popular majority, solely and simply—I think almost every one would agree—because it seemed too great a risk to change the commander in chief at the climax of a war that was being won but had not yet been won.

This, then, is a Democratic administration and Mr. Truman is president owing to a most unusual combination of circumstances. For if the election of 1944 had not happened to fall due at the climax of the war, a Republican and in all likelihood, Mr. Dewey, would now be president.

A Different Situation

Suppose the war against Germany had been won a year earlier as conceivably it might have been if the views of Stimson, Marshall and Bradley had prevailed. It is safe to say that Roosevelt would not have risked his life, and his reputation in history, on what would then have been the poor gamble for a fourth term. Or if he had, then like Wilson, at the end of the first world war, like Churchill at the end of this war, he would almost surely have been defeated. The compelling reason

Not only do we wince at calling any horse by that name, but we feel it is a serious reflection on all other horses now racing, admiting lots of 'em rate it.

Dear Nephew: I see by the usual signs where we are going to have another spring and summer after all, though there were times when the prospect looked doubtful. I also see by the papers that the same thing is happening all over the northern hemisphere and there is a fighting chance that even the Europeans will be able to feed themselves as a result.

While I am the last one to stick pins in the press it does sometimes occur to me that you toilers in newspaper offices do some of your toiling under the impression that the most important thing in life is what people say, instead of what the world is doing. Not that I think you should put it in headlines that spring is coming, but I do think you should know that it's important.

Or to put it another way, there isn't a single decision anybody can make that can't be set aside by something beyond the reach of human control. Imagine, if you can wrap your brain around it, what would happen if spring didn't come. That will give you an idea of what I'm driving at. Even if it comes a little early or a little late, that is a far bigger thing in human affairs than all the speeches, laws, resolutions and executive orders there are.

However, I do not want to labor the point. I was getting ready to tell you that we both had recovered from the recent trouble we had with influences to the extent of spending a day at the sugar camp getting things ready—at least that was our excuse. What we really did was decide to have a picnic yesterday morning, since we had it at the camp, that being the easiest place to get to at this time of the year.

It was warm in the sun—just like those pictures you've seen of Sun Valley with cuties in bathing suits. Both of us got a fair case of sunburn during the afternoon, though we did not wear bathing suits. The sunburn helped us stay warm when the sun began to go down and the air turned chilly. By that time the fire was ready for broiling steaks and baking potatoes.

Ever since I had the flu my appetite has been under par but it made a brilliant comeback with the aid of prime beefsteak, potatoes smothered in fresh butter, home-made bread with butter and strawberry jam and coffee boiled over an open fire. Maybe it wasn't my appetite that was at fault so much as the cooking. Even your aunt admitted the picnic tasted better than the worm-eaten meals she has been fixing lately at home. Both of us now feel in tune again and ready for anything. We and the forsythia are ready to bust into bloom at the slightest provocation.

Pardon me for laying it on this way, but I set to thinking about you huddled inside, all pale and sickly and fed up with winter, and I figured it would be good for you to know that your aunt's correspondent has investigated the rumor that another spring is coming and found it correct in all details. Give my regards to the family.

MARION CO. YOUTH IS ESSAY WINNER

Wm. Halby One of 10 Tops in National Contest.

William G. Halby, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Halby of Pleasant township, was notified yesterday that he is one of the 10 national winners of the annual essay contest sponsored by Young America, a national news weekly for youth.

He will be interviewed by representatives of the publication this week and auditioned for his possible appearance on the Mutual Broadcasting Co.'s coast to coast. "American Forum of the Air." Theodore Granik, director of the air show, is now studying the top ten 200-word essays submitted in the national contest and if Halby's essay is selected he will be awarded a trip to Washington, D. C. and an appearance on the broadcast. The essays were written on the subject "Which Do You Favor in the Coming Presidential Election. A Republican or Democrat? Why?

The selection of the two winners of the broadcast appearance will be announced March 11, in Young America magazine.

Young Halby was national winner of the essay contest in 1946, runner up in 1947, and stands an excellent chance of repeating his former victory.

He is a junior at Pleasant Township school.

Movie Men Sue Studios For $6 Million Damages

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, March 2—Ten movie writers, directors and producers under citation for alleged contempt of congress have sued major film studios for $61,109,775 damages.

All 10 of them were dismissed from their jobs after the contempt citations were brought on the ground they had refused to tell the house un-American committee whether they were members of the Communist party or the Screen Writers Guild.

They charged that the un-American committee, in its questions about their affiliations, was impelled by a desire "to coerce and intimidate the motion picture industry into employing only those persons whose political beliefs are acceptable" to the committee.

Bridal Earrings Now New Trend in New York

By The United Press

NEW YORK—The newest idea in marital customs introduced here provides husbands with duplicates of the bridal ring to put in their wives' ears.

O. M. Resen, the designer, calls them "wed-earrings." The "earmate" of the wedding band is of white palladium, one of the platinum metals, which is light in weight and easy on the lobes. Carved in a floral motif, the two mates dangle like hoops from pendant ear attachments upon which cabochon rubies gleam.

The dictionary definition of palladium is significant, Resen pointed out. Besides being a precious metal, palladium also means "a safeguard or protection." It stems from the palladim, or white statue of Pallas Athene. When ancient Troy held the palladium the Greeks considered the city safe from capture.

"Jealous husbands seem to like this additional way of telling predatory males 'hands off'," Resen said.

MYSTERIOUS FOX

PEORIA, Ill.—On the same day that the movie film "Foxes of Harrow" was being played at a Peoria theater, a timid, tame gray fox was discovered sheltering himself in a basement window well at the nearby postoffice. The animal, apparently someone's pet is now living in a cage at the bear den of a city park, while the mystery of how he got into the heart of the city is still unsolved.

COMPANY

In the same year Monsanto acquired its Norfolk plant.

In 1936 Monsanto acquired another unit which brought to it facilities of a comprehensive research laboratory and the services of research chemists and physicists, two of whom were men of international note, Drs. Charles Allen Thomas and Carroll A. Hochwalt, who had organized a research laboratory of their own in 1926.

Another Monsanto acquisition which involved entry into the plastics field was the purchase of the Fiberloid Corporation of Springfield, Mass., in 1938.

Monsanto purchased in 1939 from the Corn Products Refining Company and the Commercial Solvents Corporation, the assets of the Resinox Corporation.

During the same year, because of its steady growth and diversification of research, manufacturing and sales activities, the company found it advisable to reorganize its activities into four operating divisions: Merrimac, Organic, Phosphate and Plastics. Control was decentralized by delegating operating responsibilities to four divisional general managers.

The next period of Monsanto's activity was influenced by a world at war. In the spring of 1940, Monsanto and the Nicholas Proprietary Ltd., jointly erected a plant in Australia.

More and more of Monsanto's products were going into war and essential civilian use. By 1942, nearly 100 per cent of the company's output was so assigned. In addition to increasing its own output, the company provided technical help for the construction and operation of nine new government plants at: Monsanto, Ill., (CWS); Karnack, Texas, (two plants); Texas City, Texas; Monsanto, Tenn., (CWS); Dayton, O., (Units 2, 3 and 4); Springfield, Mass.

38 "E" Awards

By February 1945, its productive efforts resulted in 38 Army-Navy "E" awards, not including special citations from military and government groups. Monsanto was the first producer of chemical products to receive an "E." The plant at Texas City, Texas, produced about 21 per cent of the styrene needed to meet the nation's synthetic rubber requirements.

The most significant of Monsanto's contributions to the war effort was made known Aug. 14, 1945, when the War Department authorized the company to announce its part in the development of atomic energy. It was then revealed that units of the Central Research Laboratories had been engaged in research on plutonium and that Monsanto had been active for some time in operating the Clinton Laboratories at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Effective July 1, 1945, Monsanto took over the operation of Clinton Laboratories under contract to the Manhattan Engineering District.

In May, 1944, Monsanto acquired as a wholly-owned subsidiary, I. P. Laucks, Inc., of Seattle, Wash. The Laucks properties included plants at Los Angeles, Calif.; Portsmouth, Va.; Seattle, Wash (two); Ledgeport, N. Y. (two); Shakerdale, P. Q.; Vancouver, B. C.; and Brisbane, Australia. Joining was a soybean crop producing plywood.

In 1943 the company bought the styrene plant in Texas City from the government for $9,550,000, in order to have a dependable source of styrene for its plastic program. Monsanto had built and operated this plant for the government during the war. In January, 1947, a new division was created around this plant and called the Texas Division.

Hundreds of Products

The development program of the 1930's, wartime reponsibilities converted to peacetime use and the post-war expansion program have contributed to the Monsanto of today. Total products now number in the hundreds, and their production is made possible by an arm of chemists, engineers, technicians and workmen. In the divisional laboratories and the Central Research Laboratories in Dayton, continuous investigation is being carried on. Monsanto plans reach from headquarters in St. Louis eastward to Sunderland, England, westward and southward to Melbourne, Australia, and north to Canada. They serve markets which are worldwide. They serve industry which serves mankind.

SENATORS ASK MORE INFORMATION ON ERP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—Critical senators pulled the wraps off their Marshall plan questions today.

Senator Wherry (Neb.), acting Republican floor leader, said a number of his colleagues have indicated they want more information about the $5,300,000,000 European aid program now being debated.

"I'm confident," Wherry told a reporter, "that most of today's session will be Q and A"—that is, questions and answers.

The top question confronting the senate is whether the amount of money involved can be safely cut.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) believes it can. So does Senator Ball (R-Minn), one of the leaders of the so-called GOP "revisionist" group.

Taft has not yet announced an alternate figure. But Ball may lay before a revisionist meeting tonight a proposal to trim the sum to $3,500,000,000. At the same time the group is expected to decide what other amendments may be offered, either by individuals or on behalf of the entire bloc of some 20 senators.

Strong Air Arm Sought by Taft

Suggests Billion Dollar Increase for Air Force, Slash in U.M.T.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2 — A billion dollar increase in the Air Force budget was suggested today by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Although Taft said he doesn't like to talk in abstract figures, he said he is willing to spend considerable more on building up the nation's air power than Mr. Truman has proposed.

In his $39,669,000,000 budget for the year beginning July 1, the President suggested an outlay of $1,230,700,000 for military aircraft.

Taft, however, made it clear any additional spending for the Air Force will have to be at the expense of universal military training and be deducted from Army and Navy funds.

"I think we may be able to get a billion dollars more for the air force by cutting out $400,000,000 for universal military training and shifting some Army and Navy funds over," the Ohio senator told a reporter.

Taft said he wants this country to have the world's most efficient air force. But he said it remains to be seen whether it will be necessary, as the congressional aviation policy board urged, to have 35,000 warplanes.

The board said such a program would involve spending about ten billion dollars a year on all aviation projects, compared with about $3,830,000,000 this year.

Taft said he thinks it may be necessary to boost these expenditures to $5,000,000,000 when delivery of the new planes actually begins.

AUTO LICENSE SALE IS BRISK

636 Buy 1948 Plates on Opening Day at Downtown Bureau.

Some 636 Marionites jammed the auto license bureau at 131 North State street yesterday, the first day of sales, to get those prized "low numbers" on their 1948 license plates, Deputy Registrar Walter C. Bailey announced today.

The first purchaser was also the heaviest spender. License number Q-1001, the first unreserved number, was sold to the first customer, the Standard Oil Co., which also tallied the highest group of license fees paid by one purchaser, over $7,000. The greatest number of individual sets of plates bought by any one purchaser was bought by the Ohio Associated Telephone Co

During the first day 504 sets of passenger car plates, worth $5,040, 123 sets of truck plates, worth $12,000, and nine motorcycle plates, worth $45, were sold

The license bureau has eight employes working in "assembly line" fashion. This method of processing the complicated license application forms has reduced the time required for each customer to purchase one license to approximately five minutes, after the purchaser reaches the desk.

Registrar Bailey reports that a change in regulations now permits owners of motor powered bicycles to operate without license plates, although the operator of a motor bicycle is required to have a driver's license.

The registrar expected a lighter demand for plates today because of the bad weather. Despite the rain, 15 persons were waiting to buy plates when the bureau opened this morning at 8:30.

o Congressmen Visit Red Embassies, Then e Marshall Plan with "Armed Alliances"

By The Associated Press

SHINGTON, March 1—Two freshmen personally tapped all et satellite ambassadors for information and have decided Marshall plan must be backed by "military alliances."

y recommended that the United States also break off diplo- elations with the Communist controlled government of ovakia.

the United States must "military security pacts with and among the nations participating in the Marshall plan."

In Kersten's words, the two congressmen had this in mind in quizzing the diplomats:

"To attempt to find out the type of economic pressure Russia will attempt to exert, through her satellites, to defeat European recovery by direct or indirect methods," Kersten added.

"We have learned first hand how Russia is handling her satellites and what happens to government and freedom when the Communists take over."

Report Their Impressions

With Kersten nodding agreement, Nixon remarked:

"I'm satisfied they all are puppets. That was demonstrated by their answers. They seemed not to be speaking their own lines, but to be getting them from some central source. It was more than a coincidence."

Kersten chimed in that in many instances they used "identical arguments"—that the Marshall plan is political and military rather than economic, that their relations with Russia are like those between the United States and Mexico or Canada, that the United States is engaging in military intervention in Greece, that freedom exists in their own lands.

And the two lawmakers said they were particularly impressed that, without exception, a Communist is minister of interior and controls the police in each of the seven satellites.

Suggestions Made

Nixon and Kersten obtained some definite ideas on what may happen abroad and what should be done about it:

1. The United States must establish the principle, in the case off Czechoslovakia, that it will withdraw or withhold recognition from any government which a Communist minority seizes by undemocratic, illegal mesns. Perhaps the U. S. should reconsider its recognition of the Communist-dominated Polish government.

2. All Europe yearns for peace. The Soviet satellites say they have it ("The kind you have in a penitentiary," Kersten commented.)

The United States must kindle hopes for peace in western Europe by "stepping up the Marshall plan time table for cooperation on political and economic problems, erasing differences, breaking down trade barriers and permitting free movement of people across borders."

3. The U. S. should have it understood it will resist further attempts of Communists, or Fascists, to take over European governments by "faking" issues and arresting opposition political leaders. This resistance could take the form of "economic sanctions" or the bringing of "charges of aggression" in the United Nations.

4. Communists will try to bore in through the labor movement. The Marshall plan, therefore, should put increased emphasis on support from labor and support for labor.

5. American aid should be denied any government which places a Communist in charge of the ministry of the interior and the police.

6. Russian satellite ambassadors are smart, able men. America should see that her ambassadors are as well coached.

7. There seem to be tiny chinks through which shine rays of hope that it still might be possible to lure some of the satellites away from Russia.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THERE is a song that says "Old soldiers never die."

But they do retire.

And one of the toughest and bravest the American army has ever known bowed out this week—Maj. Gen. Ernie Harmon, deputy chief of the ground forces.

Only a brief two-paragraph story announced the retirement of this legendary "soldier's soldier" after 31 years in uniform and service in two world wars.

But as long as deeds mean more than words the U. S. Army will hold in memory the fighting record of "Old Gravel Voice" Harmon, who fought more battles and killed more Germans than any other American tank officer in the Second World war.

Hal Boyle

A chunky, squint-eyed man, crusty, rough-talking and sentimental, he was known to officers under him as "The Bull" and them as nervous as frog legs in a frying pan, but the enlisted men in his command liked him and thought it an honor to fight under him. Because he knew his trade—tank warfare—as well as any man alive.

When he wore all his ribbons, his chest looked like a vegetable patch in technicolor. But his score or more medals and decorations merely index his battle biography. They don't reveal him for what he was—one of the most unusual personalities of the war.

ERNIE LANDED under fire in French Morocco. His first armored division cornered 42,000 Germans in the Tunisian cleanup. He led the same division at Cassino and spearheaded the breakout at Anzio.

The Doughboys who survived Anzio should love him for insisting that tanks instead of infantry lead the drive against the German fortified lines.

"I lost 116 tanks the first day," Erie said later, "but within a week I had 70 back in action. It's easier to repair a tank than it is to bring half a hundred Doughboys back to life."

Harmon returned to America and was given command of a corps. That would have led to his promotion to lieutenant general but Ernie couldn't stand the boredom of waiting at home for a third star.

He wrote General Bradley asking for another fighting post, and Bradley promptly flew him over to command the Second armored division in Belgium. Harmon cracked through the Siegfried line. Two months later he made a 100-mile overnight march and smashed three German panzer divisions at Celles, where he broke up the deepest Nazi penetration in the Battle of the Bulge.

AFTER THE WAR ENDED "Old Gravel Voice"—he got that nickname because he talks in a rumbling growl like a concrete mixer in low gear—organized the American constabulatary force in Germany.

Ernie saw the horse give way to the tank during his career, and the Old Army replaced by the new. He sees more changes coming.

"I saw the cavalry go out after the First World war," he told me once, "and I think the last war was the only one in which tanks will have played such a major role."

Now at 54 Ernie is returning to civil life, as have many fine wartime division commanders. For all his medals and victories he ended the war at the same rank he began it—a major general.

Congress somehow never got around afterward to voting that promotion little "Hell on Wheels" Harmon passed up rather than miss a fight.

But knowing Ernie, I'm sure he'd rather have the extra memories he has in his heart than one more shiny star on his shoulder.

Child Conservation League Plans District Conferences

Dates were set for district conferences early this spring and plans discussed for the state convention next fall at a two-day meeting of the executive board of the Ohio Child Conservation League, which closed Friday at Hotel Harding. Mrs. Harold H. Jacobs of 428 Forest street is president and Mrs. James F. Lauer of Prospect is corresponding secretary of the state organization. Mrs. Jacobs was in charge of the meeting.

The following dates were set for conferences: Northwest, April 8 at Delphos; Central, which includes Marion, April 15 at Ada; Southern, April 17 at New Lexington; Eastern, April 27 at McConnelsville; Southwest, April 28 at Washington C. H. and Northeast, May 6 at Lorain. The state convention will be held at Youngstown Oct. 8 and 9 with leagues of Warren, Cortland and Niles as the hostess group. Headquarters will be at the Pick-Ohio Hotel. Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Lauer will attend all of the district conferences as well as the state convention, Mrs. Jacobs said today.

Plan Publication

With the growth and advancement of the league steps were taken at the meeting to publish a statewide league publication, following a suggestion made at the state meeting last year made by Mrs. Katherine Dennig Smith of Marion, a past president of the group. Mrs. Smith originated the idea of sending out a president's letter during her term of office and this was followed by publication of a bulletin as the state and circle activities enlarged. The time has come, the officers feel, to enlarge the league news and the project will be placed before the members at the state meeting next fall, it was planned.

Mrs. Earl Bender of Marietta, president of the Eastern district, was named state vice president and education chairman, for the remainder of the year, to succeed Mrs. Donald Griggs of Junction City, state vice president, who resigned because of illness in her family. Unable to be present also because of illness was Mrs. W. A. Martin of Columbus, Southwest district president and research chairman.

Dinner Is Special Event

A social feature of the meeting was a dinner Thursday night at Hotel Harding. The table centerpiece was a bouquet of jonquils and at either side was an antique candlestick holding a lighted taper. Places were marked with pastel candles in small holders. The decorations were arranged by Mrs. John Artopoeus, president of the Marion Federation, Child Conservation League, representing the federation. The out-of-town guests were entertained following the dinner at the home of Mrs. Jacobs. Mrs. Holger Ridder of Lakewood, president of Northwest district, Mrs. Edgar Tripplehorn of Findlay, state recording secretary, Mrs. Franklin Baker of Crooksville, Southern district president and Mrs. Corwin Resh of Tiffin, chairman of the budget committee, were overnight guests of Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Lauer had as her houseguests Mrs. Earl Bender, Mrs. J. D. Dean of Galion, state treasurer and Mrs. Donald Putnam of Ada, Central district president. Other visiting officers remained at the hotel.

There are 252 leagues in the state organization with 5,165 members. Marion is the cradle of the state organization and Mrs. Addison Bain of Wallace street was the first president.

COUPLE OF BABES. Babe Ruth was greeted with a big kiss by Babe Zaharias in Miami, Fla. Ruth was the honorary referee at a match between Babe Zaharias and Louise Suggs, at the Biltmore golf course to benefit the Cancer fund and local youth center.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

FOR a few seconds following my stern ultimatum to Katie, I was afraid that I had a real case of hysterics on my hands instead of the pretended one to which she had treated her husband and Mrs. Ticer.

With a wild wail which I knew came from the depths of her emotions instead of the surface, she flung herself out of bed, knelt, almost prostrated herself before me, and catching my skirts, held herself up by them while she lifted her swollen face, streaming with real tears, to mine.

'Oh, Missis Graham, my darling Meesis Graham," she wailed, "you vant to steeck knife right troo your poor Katie's heart? You not so crooel as dot. I know I awful bad vomans, und I knew I sure vill go to hell ven I die, but I do not stand to go to hell vile I still alife, und dot vere be eef you send me avay from you, your poor Katie who lofes you so mooch. I vould die for you, Meesis Graham, or for Junior or my leetle Faith."

She was speaking only the simple truth, I knew, and the knowledge tugged at me. But I did not need it for my decision. I never had intended to discharge her, but I did not choose that she should guess that fact.

"I have no doubt that you would die for us, Katie," I said with my voice still stern, "as I trust I would die, if necessary, to save you from a threatened death. But that does not alter the fact that you often make my life unbearable by your temper fits, and tonight's is the worst offense yet. Tell me quickly, why you did this."

I knew what her answer would be. I was pulling it out of her, for I wanted to use it as a weapon against her.

"Oh, my Meesis Graham," she wailed. "I teenk I go crazy. But you know how proud I am,, und ven you pass me by like so mooch dirt und send your message to me troo dot old Ticer skoonk vomans—"

"Stop right there!" I commanded. "And this is going to be our parting forever, unless you get these crazy notions about Mrs. Ticer out of your head. No," I went on more firmly as she opened her lips to protest. "Don't speak a word until I give you permission. I'm doing the talking right now."

Her lifted face was attentive now, and was almost as meek as Uriah Heep's, although I knew that her submission, for the moment, at least, was genuine.

"In the first place," I said, "I did not send my message through Mrs. Ticer. You know very well why I did not telephone you here; my father never wishes anything telephoned to the farmhouse when he has someone special out here. But I telephoned Charlie Kent to come out here and tell you Why he gave the message to Mrs. Ticer to give to you, I do not know, but there would have been no harm done if you had not let your jealousy of Mrs. Ticer send you into this frenzy."

"Oh, oh!" she wailed. "Me, I sooch a fool, und so vicked. Meesis Ticer she try to tell me dot, but I no belief her, she sooch an old liar—"

She clapped her hands over her mouth as she finished, and her eyes were wide with fright as they met mine. I did not soften my stern gaze, although I was beginning to choke with laughter inside; the general effect of Katie's tempestuous scenes upon me.

"No, she is not an old liar, and you know it," I said severely. "Neither is she any of the other things you call her. She is my very good neighbor, and my good friend, and I have grown tired of listening to your abusive talk about her every time you get angry. If I change my mind and let you stay here with me, will you promise me to stop forever this foolishness about Mrs. Ticer?"

She was on her feet now in a wild scramble, her arms lifted theatrically to Heaven.

"Me, nefer say vun more bad vord about her," she vowed. "Me, I get down und kees her beeg feet, und let her valk ofer me, eef you only let me go down und serve dot beeytiful dinner I feex for you. Even my biscuits all ready to put in oven. You tink, plees, you let me coom down?"

fense against the atomic bomb, but the best defense is to know more about atomic energy than any other nation.

"The principal purpose of the plant here will be to increase our knowledge in this field and to learn more about the overall picture of atomic energy. The plant will work principally along chemical lines although some nuclear physics will be involved," he said.

Workers To Be Trained

In regard to employment in the permanent establishment, which now is set at "in excess of 100," Dr. Hochwalt explained that not many persons were required to operate a chemical laboratory. Many of the employes will be chosen locally and trained for their duties, which will be technical in nature.

The principal building in the proposed construction program will be a one-story structure 300 by 400 feet in dimensions. It will have an additional part story for operating equipment such as exhaust fans. The building will be fireproof and will embody the latest safety features.

Numerous buildings already on the grounds also will be utilized and a study now is under way to determine what other present structures can be used.

Plans for Building

The new large building will be of reinforced concrete. This type was decided on, Mr. Dunbar said, because of the present shortage of structural steel.

As for the estimated need of 1,000 construction workers it was pointed out as many as possible would be recruited locally in order to avoid a housing problem arising from the importation of men.

If additional housing is needed Mr. Dunbar said the AEC now has 200 trailers at Miamisburg which could be brought here.

In reply to a question by E. O. Uncapher, city safety-service director, Mr. Dunbar said the AEC would have no objection to the city's construction of an airport in the Scioto Plant area. "As a matter of fact," he said, "I wish you had it completed now so we could fly up here."

Mr. Dunbar also said no decision had been reached in regard to farm land already leased for crops in the area to be taken over. It is possible some may not be disturbed, he said.

Speaks of Texas City Fire

Dr. Hochwalt went into detail to clear up a question put to him early in the discussion. That regarded the heavy loss suffered by Monsanto in lives and property in the Texas City, Tex., disaster last April.

In the first place he pointed out there was no connection between that fire and atomic energy.

The Texas City plant, he said, produced styrene, one of the basic ingredients in making synthetic rubber. Styrene is inflammable, but less so than gasoline.

The fire started, he explained, when a ship loaded with ammonium nitrate, exploded in the harbor adjacent to the styrene plant. The blast covered the plant with a sheet of flame and broke lines carrying the inflammable fluid. Destruction of the plant resulted.

He added that the rebuilt plant would be ready for operation within a few weeks.

O.S.U. Project Dropped

Acquisition of the Scioto Ordnance site 1,200 acres by the AEC leaves only 2,700 acres of the original 12,000 in the hands of the War Assels Administration. Other transfers have included 640 to the city for the airport, 1,280 to the state welfare department and the remainder, excluding the 2,700 acres still held, has been resold for agricultural purposes.

The AEC's tract is part of a larger area once considered by Ohio State university as the site of an agricultural and industrial laboratory. This project was dropped some time ago.

Besides Dr. Hochwalt and Mr. Dunbar others at this morning's conference from Monsanto and the AEC were Frank Callaghan, chief security officer for AEC, and J. E. McKee and Larry Schulenberg, both industrial and public relations representatives of Monsanto. Mr. Callaghan is from Dayton and Mr. McKee and Mr. Schulenberg are from St. Louis, Mo.

for his reelection—that the lives and fortunes of the fighting men were dependent on continuity of command — would have disappeared. He would not have been running for reelection as commander in chief, but only as the Democratic candidate, and there is no reason to think that he could have held his narrow majorities over Dewey in the pivotal states.

And if the election had fallen later, after the war was won and after Roosevelt's death, we know what would have happened. Something very like what did happen in the midterm congressional elections. The Democratic party which was united in 1944 on Roosevelt would first have had to agree on his successor. The coniest for vice president in Chicago in 1944 was sharp enough. Had Mr. Truman, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Byrnes been contending, not for the vice presidency but for the presidency, it would have been no easy matter to select any one who united the party sufficiently to win the election.

It would have been a hard election to win if Mr. Truman or Mr. Wallace had had to run on his own personal strength and merit as a leader of the people. One can have little doubt, I think, that only Roosevelt in the special circumstances of 1944 could have won a fourth election for the Democrats. The consequences of these extraordinary conditions in 1944 are the conditions of the election year.

REV. WALLY LEWIS IN YOUTH PROGRAM

Music Groups Also Featured in Meeting Here.

Mansfield and Otterbein college musicians took part in the Youth for Christ meeting Saturday night at the Masonic hall, and the speaker was Rev. Wally Lewis of West Jackson. Dr. C. E. Hershey was in charge, and Rev. R. A. Maugans led singing. Pianists were Mrs. J. W. Baker and Miss Louise Caldwell. Miss Dorothia Goyer played the octa-marimba. Approximately 200 attended.

Special music was by the Calvary trio of Mansfield composed of Dorothy Sistek, Anne Bell and Ruth Stambaugh, accompanied by Lewis Stambaugh. A quartet from the Life Work Recruits group of Otterbein college at Westerville included Robert Belt, James Todd, Bill Joiner and Harold Bower. Mr. Stambaugh played a piano solo. A duet by local singers, Joan and Mary Lou Milar, was accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Opal Milar. It was announced that for the March meeting, Harry Burdy of Los Angeles, Calif. will be the singer, and Rev. Del Fehsenfeld of St. Louis, Mo., evangelist and co-editor with Dr. John Rice of the Sword of the Lord publication will speak. Testimonies were given and a Bible quiz was held.

The speaker's message included the following thoughts: "There are many great decisions to make in life. There is a time when you are going to decide whom to serve. There are a lot of people who say it costs a lot to follow Jesus, but it costs far more not to follow him. The most convenient time to come to Christ is right now. There are a lot of people who say to Jesus when he knocks at their door, 'Go away,' but when death comes to your door it does not go away with bowed head, but enters. Those that reject Christ are going to be separated from God. There is no way out of hell. The only way is the way of the Cross."

THE Y. M. C. A. has a slew of athletic events on tap for the month of March—ranging from a volleyball tournament through a clinic for golfers. There are basketball tournaments, the wind-up of the regular season in the Y. M. C. A. Monday night basketball league, the play-offs of that league and the Thursday night league, the Y-sponsored Gold Medal cage tourney, L entries in district basketball tournaments, the Golden Gloves boxing program, sponsored by the Y's Men's Service Club, and several other events.

THE VOLLEYBALL team, made up of business men of Marion, holds a volleyball tournament Friday night as a prelim to the Northwest district tournament to be held in Findlay March 11. The Marion volleyballers, who play Monday, Wednesday, and Friday noons and Tuesday and Thursday evenings jealously keep track of their scoring total each month in competition for the "Superman" award, which is presented the top scorer at monthly dinners.

WINNERS of the two Y. M. C. A. basketball leagues, which will be decided in playoffs this week, will enter the Northeast District Y. M. C. A. cage tournament at Findlay March 10-13, with the tournament winner to represent the district in the Ohio-West Virginia Y. M. C. A. Sports Festival at Ohio State university March 20.

THEN, the Y. M. C. A. is sponsoring a Gold Medal tournament starting March 12....Eleven of the 13 Y teams and eight other independent teams from the Marion area have already entered the medal tourney.

THE DISTRICT Y. M. C. A. Class C tournament (for boys under 18) will be held here March 13 between teams of Findlay, Marion, Bellevue, and Mansfield, with the winner to represent the district in the March 20 Sports Festival.

STARTING MARCH 15, the annual Golden Gloves boxing festival will be held at the Y.... This program, sponsored by the Y's Men's Service Club, will also run March 17 and 18.

THE SECOND annual Y. M. C. A. golf clinic will be held on four Thursday evenings starting March 4, with William Alves, Marion Country Club pro, and Bud Baker, of Cleveland's Lost Nation Country Club, slated to give golf instruction.

THE WEEKLY play in the Gra-Y basketball league will continue until March 20, with a possible playoff to run the following week.

It was on Good Friday night, 1865, that Abraham Lincoln was assassinated.

Irish Draw Sunbury in Class B Pairings; Caledonia vs. Delaware St. Mary Tonight

St. Mary Irish, ending the regular season on a winning note in a nerve-wracking victory over the Monarchs of Marysville last week, 52-42, to avenge an earlier setback, will have an opportunity to even things with Sunbury who dropped them, 33-29, in seasonal play when they meet Wednesday at 4 p. m. on the Otterbein college planks at Westerville in the central district class B tournament competition.

Caledonia, who won the county class B tourney Saturday night with a win over Morral, will go against Delaware St. Mary tonight at 8.

Pleasant, winners of the county league and consolation winners of the county tournament, meets Mt. Gilead at 5 p. m. Wednesday right after the Marion St. Mary-Sunbury clash.

Morral will try London at 8 Wednesday evening.

The pairings for the tournament were made last night following a dinner in King Hall at Otterbein.

Irish Seeded

The Irish were seeded second in the top bracket. Bremen's Oilers took the number one spot on the strength of their record of 23 wins and no defeats. Marysville's Monarchs and Fredericktown's Freddies were seeded in the lower bracket.

Second round of the tournament play will start Saturday and continue March 9, 10, 12 and 13 with the winners of each bracket advancing to either the Springfield or Athens regional, whichever is closer for the winning teams.

Marengo meets Raymond at 6 tonight; Richwood tangles with Pleasantville an hour later.

Ashley takes on Lancaster St. Mary at 9 p. m. Wednesday.

Marysville meets Alexandria at 8 p. m. Thursday, and Cardington tries Grove City at 5 p. m. Friday.

BIRD-M'GINNIS KEEPS LEAD IN VET LEAGUE

Bird-McGinnis post maintained top record in the Vet league last night by holding the Company C squad to 28 points they zipped the meshes for 34 tallies: Navy sailed over G.I. Post, 38-26, and the AMVETS shaded V.F.W., 40-37.

McGinnis, paced by Monnette's 11 point high, lead all the way, out were outscored in the final quarter.

Navy Club, lead by Brunson who flipped four fielders and three fouls for 11 points, had a little trouble with the stubborn Post team, but managed to come from behind in the third period, 24-20, and flourished in the fourth, 14-6, to end by a generous margin. Spitzer fired 10 tallies in leading the Post quint.

The AMVETS had a tougher time of eliminating the Veterans of Foreign War boys, but by laying down a 19-point barrage in the third canto, with everybody hitting for seven to nine points, they pulled the game out of the fire and held against the Coulter-led advance of the V.F.W. Coulter hit for 21 points.

MICHIGAN LANDS 2 ON ALL BIG 9 TEAM

Earns Conference Crown with 51-35 Win Over Iowa.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 2—Michigan's newly-crowned basketball champions landed two berths on the all Big Nine team selected today by conference coaches.

Bob Harrison and Pete Elliott, key men in the Wolverines' effective defense system which limited opponents to an average 46 points per game, won the guard spots.

Only repeater from last season was Jim McIntyre, Minnesota's 6 foot 9 inch center.

Iowa's Murray Wier and Illinois' Dwight Eddleman captured the forward positions.

McIntyre, with a 17.9 scoring average, and the 5 foot 10 inch Wier, who set an all-time conference sharpshooting mark, were the only unanimous choices of the coaches.

Michigan won its first undisputed title since 1927 by walloping Iowa 51-35 last night at Ann Arbor. The gingery Wier popped in 14 points. This boosted his 12-game tally to 272, 17 more than the former record set by Illinois' Andy Phillip in 1943.

Eddleman pumped in 20 points as Illinois edged Indiana 52-51 to tie with Wisconsin for third place. An expert set-shot artist and excellent fast-breaker, Eddleman averaged 14.9 points for the 12-game span.

Only close race in the voting was between Eddleman and Ohio State's fine forward, Dick Schnittker. Schnittker was the Big Nine's third leading scorer with a 17 average. Eddleman barely won out.

Schnittker was placed at center on the second team, although he regularly played forward. This made room at forward for Don Ritter of Indiana. Bobby Cook of Wisconsin's last year's scoring champion, was the other second team forward choice.

Illinois' Jack Burmaster and Purdue's Bill Berberian won the guard positions.

Wisconsin had a chance to take sole possession of third place last night, but Minnesota spilled the Badgers 46-41. A win would have given them a tie for second with Iowa.

Program Set for Annual Baseball Banquet

TRIS SPEAKER

CY YOUNG

Tris Speaker, Cy Young, Fritz Howell To Appear at Inter-Club Council Dinner

Two of baseball's immortals, the Ohio sports editor of The Associated Press, and the baseball comedian who was received so enthusiastically last year, will be on hand at the Harding hotel April 26 for the annual baseball banquet sponsored by the Inter-Club council.

They are Cy Young, former pitching great of Cleveland, St. Louis, and Boston; Tris Speaker, great outfielder for Boston and manager of the Cleveland Indians from 1919 to 1926; Fritz Howell, who has been with The AP for some 15 years, and Darby Whalen, former minor league player and now a baseball comedian and mailman of Lockport, N. Y.

Howell will act as master of ceremonies and Tris will be the principal speaker of the evening, set on the eve of the Cub opener with Muncie, April 27.

The banquet honoring the Cubs will be held in the Harding hotel mezzanine ball room, which has a capacity of about 200. Last year 160 were served at the dinner.

Tickets, which cost $3 apiece, will be allotted to the six clubs in the Inter-Club council—Kiwanis, Rotary, Exchange, Lions, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and the Y's Men—and to the Marion Cubs, Don Williamson, banquet chairman, said.

The banquet will start at 6:30 p. m. Monday, April 26.

Fritz Howell, in accepting the invitation to act as master of ceremonies, said he was quite happy to work on the same program with Tris Speaker, with whom he has appeared several times before.

At the present time, Tris is in Tuscon coaching the Cleveland Indians in hitting and working with the outfielders. Tris piloted the Tribe to their only pennant back in 1920 and only twice in his reign as Cleveland manager did his club land in the second division.

Denton T. "Cy" Young, winner of more than 500 games and a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, in 1892 won 37 and lost 17 for Cleveland, while yielding an average of but 1.15 earned runs in 52 nine-inning games. He will be accompanied to the baseball banquet by Turk LaReilley, well known minor league player who at one time performed in Marion.

SCHLAIRET DEFEATS M'MILLEN, 47-42

Schlairet Transfer kept its state clean last night by turning back McMillen Peed, 47-42, in one of the most highly contested frays in the Y. M. C. A. league this year. Green Camp shaded Carroll's by two points, 40-38, and Smith's downed Hensel, 38-34, in the other two games.

Schlairet, emerging with a 6-0 record, jumped to a 16-5 lead over McMillen in the first frame with England putt putting them in from all angles as he hit for 22 points. Shellhorn was best for McMillen with 10 points. Bob Winsterseller was held to his lowest total of the season, racking only five points.

Kenny Jerew paced Green Camp in their win over Carroll's with 14 points, while Fields and Riley each netted 12 for the losing Jewelry quint. Hord flipped successfully for 11 in leading Smith's to victory and Vernon Hensel shot 17 to pace the Hensel combine.

Wednesday night Martel will meet Stone's at 7:30 and McMillen will play Schlairet at 8:30 in the two league playoff.

Wooster Cops Title With Win Over Kenyon

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 2 — Wooster and Xavier shared top billing in Ohio college basketball today.

Coach Mose Hole's Wooster Scots grabbed part of the spotlight by dumping Kenyon, 70-56, last night to clinch an undisputed Ohio conference title. They already had carried off the all-games crown.

Coach Lew Hirt's Xavier Musketeers became the first Ohio quintet to receive a post-season tournament bid. The Muskies, winner of 21 out of 26, voted to accept an invite to the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball (NAIB) tourney opening Monday at Kansas City.

Wooster's win left Wesleyan second in the league, Capital's defending champion third and Toledo fourth.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 2—It isn't the work, but the lack of it that makes relief pitching a tough chore—that's the theory advanced by the Athletics' Russ Christopher, who was a "holdout" for a regular starting assignment. The long, lean right-hander, who became a "fireman" last season, signed up just in time for the start of training and then only with the understanding that he will be a starter. Connie Mack thinks Christopher may change his mind and Russ concedes: "If they give me more pay I'll go back on relief—it isn't going into the tough situations." Christopher continued, "a starting pitcher gets into them too. But it's the condition and the legs—a regular pitcher has three or four days between games to do some running and get his legs into condition. When they may use you every day, you don't get a chance to do your running."

TALK OF THE Athletics camp on the first day was Leland Lou Brissie, the big youngster from Ware Shoals, S. C., who is pitching only because he was able to argue Army doctors out of amputating his left leg—Lou was badly shot up in Italy and has to wear a big guard to protect his sensitive shins. Watching him warm up yesterday, Scout Ira Thomas commented:

"If his leg holds up, Brissie can be another Lefty Grove." And more conservative Connie Mack added: "I look for him to be a great pitcher—but maybe not this year."

Notre Dame Drops Last Of Unbeaten Cagers

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 2—There isn't a single unbeaten college basketball team in the nation today.

The last of the Mohicans, New York U.'s Violets, fell with a crash before the fight and fury of Notre Dame in Madison Square Garden, 64-59, last night.

NYU had run up 19 straight victories and was only three games away from a perfect season until the Violets bumped head-on with their Notre Dame jinx.

Notre Dame had whipped NYU 11 times in 14 tries prior to last night and the Irish made it 12 in 15 with a relentless attack fired by the great Kevin O'Shea. NYU was leading, 55-54, when O'Shea tapped in the rebound that put the Irish in front for good.

Double Main Go Set On Mat Card Thursday

On tap at the Armory Thursday for the wrestling populace will be a double main go of 90 minutes duration including one grudge battle — winner take all—between Red Lyons and Farmer Jones, the Arkansas hill-billy. Lyons was denied the decision last week, and demands a return match.

On the other half of the double go, handsome Bill Murray will oppose Al Alexander of New York City who is invading the mid-west on his first tour. Both are clean wrestlers, Promoter Les Fishbaugh said.

Two Barlow brothers, ages five and six, will open the night's matches in a 10-minute prelim.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the matter of the Joint County Ditch improvement No. 256, petitioned for by Nellie Martin, et al.

To each person signing or named in the petition and to each other person affected by said improvement.

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 22nd. day of January, 1948, the above named petitioner filed a petition with the Auditor of Marion County, Ohio, for the improvement of the Carroll Joint County Ditch by constructing, reconstructing, deepening, widening, boxing and repairing tile drains of part of the Carroll Joint County Ditch and the branches hereinafter described that empty into the Carroll Joint County Ditch. The construction of the improvement is necessary and will be conducive to the public welfare. The following is the course and termini of said proposed improvement, to-wit:

Commencing in the Carroll Joint County Ditch in the east half of the northwest quarter of Section 17, Salt Rock Township where the branches No. 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 empty into said main ditch; thence down stream in the channel of the open part of said Joint County ditch to the west section line of Section 18 in Salt Rock Township or far enough down said open ditch to give a good and sufficient outlet for all of the tile drains that empty into said open ditch; thence commencing where said branches No. 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 empty into said open ditch in the east half of the northwest quarter of said Section 17 and following said branches in an easterly direction and improve the same by cleaning out all of said tile drains, repairing all broken tile by replacing the same with new tile and reconstructing any of said branches where necessary to give a good and sufficient outlet for the lands drained or sought to be drained by any of said branches.

Applications to amend petition were filed at the first hearing in the Commissioners office on the 19th day of February, 1948, as follows, and were duly granted.

Application No. 1—filed by Rose Thompson: The undersigned hereby makes application to your Honorable body for the constructing, reconstructing and repairing the tile drain of part of the Carroll Joint County Ditch and the replacing of the tile in the branch hereinafter described by larger tile, if in the opinion of the County Engineer and the County Commissioners the same is necessary, on the course hereinafter set forth.

The following is the course and termini of said proposed branch, to-wit: Commencing at about 1227 feet south of the center of the road that runs on the north side of Section 21 in Salt Rock Township, Marion County, Ohio, as shown on Plat Book No. 5 at page 62 in the County Surveyor's office in Marion County, Ohio, in the east half of the northwest quarter of Section 21; thence northerly and northwesterly on the line of branch No. 12 as shown on said Plat Book, the place of beginning being the south end of the proposed branch on said Plat Book by the words "Not constructed," and following in a northerly direction to said branch No. 12 and following said branch No. 12 and repairing the tile drain in the same where it needs repairing to the Carroll Joint County open ditch or, if in the opinion of said County Engineer and County Commissioners, the tile in said ditch or any part thereof is too small, then to replace any part of the tile in said branch by larger tile so as to give a good and sufficient drainage for the lands in the water shed of said branch. Said branch being in the water shed of said Carroll Joint County Ditch.

Application No. 2—filed by John P. and Calvin Heilman: The undersigned hereby makes application to your Honorable body and to amend the petition by commencing at the west line of Salt Rock Township and continuing down stream in said joint county ditch to where the same empties into the Tymochtee Creek and there terminating, by cleaning out, straightening, widening, deepening said joint county ditch from the west side of Salt Rock Township to the little Tymochtee Creek.

Application No. 3—filed by J. C. L. Meinzer: The undersigned hereby makes application to your Honorable body to amend the petition by adding the following work, on what is known as the Mumma Joint County Ditch as follows: Clean out the open ditch from the intersection with the Carroll Joint County ditch, upstream to the end of the existing tile ditch, and repair the broken tile in said Mumma Joint County ditch throughout the full length of said ditch, said work beginning in section 18, Salt Rock Township, Marion County and extending north into Wyandot County through section 7 and into section 6, Pitt Tp.

Application No. 4—filed by John P. and Calvin Heilman: The undersigned hereby makes application to your Honorable body to amend the petition by including in said proceedings the reconstruction, deepening and widening of the Hickman Joint County Ditch as follows:

Commencing in the Hickman Joint County ditch in Marseilles township, Wyandott County, Ohio, about one mile north of the Marion County line then following the line of said Hickman Joint County Ditch by reconstructing, deepening and widening the same down stream to where the same empties into the main branch of the Carroll Joint County Ditch and there terminating, being a distance of about 2½ miles.

It is claimed that the improvement will affect property owned by you. You are therefore notified that the Joint Board of County Commissioners of Marion and Wyandot counties have fixed the 15th day of March, 1948, at 10 o'clock A. M. for viewing the proposed improvement as amended and have fixed the 25th day of March, 1948, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the office of the County Commissioners in Marion, Ohio, as the time and place for the hearing in the matter of said improvement as amended.

YES, AND THE STRANGE PART IS, THIS IS STRICTLY A BUSINESS BLOCK — NO APARTMENTS.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

POPE PIUS XII, born March 2, 1876. Eugenio Pacelli was a priest at 22. Soon he was working in the office of the Vatican secretary of state. In World War I he was apostolic nuncio to Germany. Created cardinal and papal secretary of state in 1930, he visited the United States in 1936. He was elected pope on his 63rd birthday in 1939. Some call him the "Pope of Peace."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

It is proposed that schoolrooms be equipped with television sets ....That ought to keep the youngsters away from swinging doors.

* * *

When your fourth-grader comes home and says "I just saw a good television program" you don't like to be always saying "let me smell your breath."

* * *

And around these parts, no matter what's on the screen a singing waiter seems to go with the program.

In fact I asked a prohibitionist if he ever had seen a television program and he said "I should say not....I never touch the stuff!"

* * *

This year all the presidential candidates will be in television and I pity the fellow who says incautiously "and I ask you all to join me."

ALL RIGHT NOW, FEELING AS YOU DO, YOU CAN'T VERY WELL LET ME GO ON SUPPORTING YOU AT COLLEGE. RUFUS, IT LOOKS AS IF YOU AND AUNT HESSIE HAVE SIGNED A TRUCE.
SHE'S SPEAKIN' CIVIL, BUT I AIN'T FOOLED.
SHE'S LET DOWN HER GRUDGE, BUT I AIN'T LETTIN' DOWN MY GUARD.
YOUR SYSTEM IS ALL RIGHT.
I'M GLAD YOU DON'T TAKE THIS BURST OF GOOD NATURE TOO SERIOUSLY.
LISTEN, MR. WALLET. IF YOU REALLY WANT HER TO LEAVE, I CAN FIX IT.

THIS IS INTOLERABLE, LEE! YOU CAN'T COME WITH US... I, I FORBID IT!
SORRY TO INTRUDE, MR. VAN GOSLIN...
...BUT IF YOU INSIST ON TAKING MOTLEY INTO THAT GUERRILLA INFESTED JUNGLE, WE'RE GOING, TOO. IT'S BETTER THAN SITTING HERE BROODING ABOUT WHAT HAPPENS TO HER IF YOU RUN INTO TROUBLE.
...AND IF I INFORM THE CONVOY COMMANDER THAT YOU HAVE FORCED YOUR PRESENCE ON US, AGAINST MY WISHES?
IN THAT CASE, WE'D JUST HANG AROUND TOWN — WHERE WE MIGHT GET CARELESS AND START GOSSIPING ABOUT WHAT A SLICK JOB YOU DID IN SMUGGLING THAT BLACK CASE THROUGH CUSTOMS!
